[From the Southern Opinion.] PRIZE POEM TO THE CONFEDERATE DEAD. TWILIGHT AT HOLLTWOOD.

To day our maidens gathered here to strew The early flowers upon the soldiers' graves, In their sweet custom; and at early morn, Hither they came with blossoms, buds and leaves, And earnest faces fairer than the flowers.

Mo grave has been forgotten—all are dressed.
The simple soldier from the distant State
Is loved and honored, though perchance unknown,
And where he sleepe is beautiful with bloom.
One stayed a little when the rest were gone,
Beside a grave. Quite motionless she stood
Until the paths grew dim, then turned away;
And twilight gathers over Hollywood.
The sun goes down behind a bank of cloud
And dashes all the stormy West with blood,
As dies a hero in a broken cause
When, pouring out his wasted life, he leaves
The land he loved to darkness and defeat.

Far down below I hear it e river rush, And standing in this City of the Dead The voice of waters seems a human cry That rises from the breadth of all the land Of shiyered heartstones and of broken hearts.

The city, growing sombre in the dusk,
Was lit with selender forty months agone,
When all our best and bravest gathered there,
A nation's firtress and her capital.
The long streets trembled with the tramp of men,
And rang with shouting and with martial strains;
And up the glancing river came the boom
Of mighty guns that held a flest at bay:
But sorrow came upon her, and defeat,
files sanh in sahes, and a poople's hope
Sank with her; and her glory passed way.
Her earns were overthrown, her flag was torn,
Her childsen bent their heads: eneath the yoke
In letter silence; and her chosen Chief
Was fathered in the fortress by the sea.

O rapid river, with the mighty voice, Ears through thy hils, and wear away the rocks Even as a people wear away the heart In thinking on their giory and their fall.

But O the spirit of the first campaigns.
O days of life and motion!
From Bio Grande to Chesapeake
Trey gathered, sweeping joyous to the fight.
The wild yell rising from the trampling charge
fore through the ragged ritts of battle smoke
And rose above the shunder of the guns. And rose above the thunder of the guns.
And we a great wave on the open sea,
This sirft a a blow and lewns a wrock behind,
They swept along, a living suame of strength,
With tempest valoe and creet of bey, not.
God smiled at first, then turned his face avide;
And hope, that glittered like a sunlits word,
And hope, that glittered like a sunlits word,
Was quenched in gloom; and still they amoto the foe
That rose, with strength remewed, from each defeat,
THE, broken by their vactories, they fell.
Powers thin and thinner grew their ranks,
The weary march, the hungry hivenec,
The scanty blanks wet with driving alect,
The scanty blanks wet with driving alect,
The longing for the loved at home—all these,
Far more than wasting buttle, wasted them
Until their strength was spent—now low they lie.
And never more upon Virginia hills
Shall thrill the opset of the Southern lines.
The men that bore the beyonet and blade
Shall bear them new no more;
But Ohd to think how bright and swint they were,
And now how cold and still i

O rushing river, thou at least art free and fit to sing a soldier's requiem, Deep-honed and is emulous—the dirge of mon That once were implies as thy winter flood. Macrosco again we stand erect and free
And we may write a truthful epitaph—
A nation uttering its relef in stone
B all pile a oft a statity monument.
Not that their fame has need of sculptured urn.
For they have lived such lives and wrought such deeds
As versal history caunot lie away.

Le vens, history cannot lie away.

Fill then shall scattered roses deck their graves

And woman's tears shall be their epitaph.

Orivor, though they moulder in the dust,
Let them not perish from our hearts—speak on,
and filt us with the ruining energy,
That as the gathered freshes of the spring
Burst upward through the shackles of the ice,
So we at last may dash our fetters off—
For until then, these men have died in vain.

THE KING'S MOUNTAIN RAILEGAD.—This old-es-ablished, but of late demolished institution, is radually being reconstructed. A regular force is gradually being reconstructed. A regular force is employed in laying down the iron as fast as it earnes, and the track has been brought to within two miles of the depot. If the work is carried on with the energy exhibited for the last few works, the cars of our citizens will, soon be saluted with the snort of the iron-horse—a sound which has been unbrard here for nearly three years. We are pleased to learn that the engine belonging to this road, which was sent to Columbia for repairs during the winter, is ready for delivery and will be here this week. The arrival of this engine will exeatly facilitate the work of rebuilding, which has thus far been carried on under great difficulties.—Forkvoile Enquirer.

The Weather and Crops.—We have been factored during the last few days with redreshing rains, which have quickened vegetation and revived the growing crops. The crops of grain are and to be very promising, and emocurage the hope that in good time there will be no lack of "seed for the sower and bread for the eater." The wheat harvests are very abundant, as large quantities have been planted, and the yield has been unusually good. The effect is already seen in the diminished price of wheat, which has been selling best will learn as law as $1.25 per busitel. With such facts before us, we may well anticipate the appealy advent of smiling plenty and the rapid ent of gamnt famine, with its lean and hungry train. This, indeed, affords substantial consolation after all that we have suffered amid so many strict present and prospective.—Abbeviue Press.

So much rain is not favorable to harvesting the wheat crop, but as yet we have heard of no distange being done. The cornerop is doing finely—grass ditto.—Laurengottle Herald. forward Corron.—We have received from Mr.

D. K. Mouson a stalk of cotton, seventeen inches in height, having several limbs already thrown out, and bearing several forms. We are told it was pulled from a field of several acres of which it is a fair sample. We should like to have a lien on that option field or to hear from the man who

The Court of Equity for Abbeville District was convened there on the 10th, says the Press, his Honor, Henry D. Lesseme, of Charleston, presiding. The Press further says;

The Dockets of the Court are crowded with large increase of old business and an unusual array of new cases, but most of these involve no matters of hitigation and are being rapidly disposed of.—Ibid.

The Laurensville Herald of Friday last, records that two prisoners confined in juil at that place, made their escape on Wednesday, 12th, by sawing out the gratin.. Their names are Wm. J. Eppes and James A. Greer. These men were sentenced

These men were sentenced at the nest term of our Court, to the Penitentiary, one for stealing ootton, the other for horse stealing of a reward of one hundred dollars each is offered for their arrest by the Sheriff of Laurens The decease of J. O. Hunter, of that District, is reported by the Horald. He was highly esteemed by all sine knew him, and his loss is a serious one to the District, as he was a man of fine intellectual attenments, and a lawyer by profession, though the time of his death was not in the practice. The Weather. Since our last issue we have been perfectly inundated. It commenced raining funday last, and we have had more or less ever since. The grass almost walks, and is fast getting sheed of the hoes. The cry is everywhere heard of too much rain, and at the present time there

We have been shown several stalks of cotton grown on the "Cedar Creek" planiation of fir. D. W. Brown, in this District, the largest of which measured twenty-seven inches in height from the ground, and contained nine full developed squares. This specimen was taken from the centre of a fifty scre field.—Lancaster Ledger.

WEATHER AND CROPS.—It has been raining for the last two days. We understand that so far the wheat is uninjured, but for corn and oats nobody ever knew of a better season. The gardens are affording a profusion of vegetables, such as snaps, squashes, cucumbers, cabbages, indeed every va-riety of osculent are more abundant than we ever knew them at this season.—Charlotte Times.

Augusta Market.

AUGUSTA, June 22. Financial—Gold—In good demand; brokers are buying at 137 and selling at 138;
Silven—Brokers are buying at 128 and selling at 132.

Corrow—In consequence of the inciement weather today very little was done—not enough to warrant a report of the market. 47 bales were sold, as follows: 1 at 16; 3 at 29; 2 at 22; 21 at 23; 11 at 23%; and 9 bales at 24c. No handless at 24c.

Mobile Market. MCBILE, June 28.—COTTON—There has been a fair demand amongst four brokers to-day, and notwithstanding the meagre supply offering, the movement has exhibited a fair degree of animation for this season of the year. Up to the close 600 bales changed hands, to which must be added 200 bought after the count was made. Quotations remain unchanged—say a basis of 24c for Inverpool Middling. The stock in first hands, as taken by the brokers to-day, shows nearly 15,000 bales. This, of course, does not represent the amount in the pickeries.

New Orleans Market.

NEW ORLEANS, June 18.—Corron—The market to-day, although less sctive, has exhibite a fair degree of animation throughout. We repeat our quotations as follows: Ordinary 20a21c; Good Ordinary 23a—c; Low Midding 24½—c and Midding 26a—c. The sakes would have been greater, had not the scarcity of the higher descriptions prevented several buyers from filling their orders. The sales for the past three days comprises 8500 bales, taken partly for the North, but mostly for foreign export. The receipts proper since Friday evening, excluding the arrivals from Mobile, Florida and Texas, which are included in their respective statements, aggregate 1311 bales, against 1350 during the corresponding period last week, showing a decrease of 39 bales. The exports for the same period embrace 2420 bales, 1011 of which were to foreign ports, and 1409 constwise.

New York Market. MONEY MARKET.

The New York Commercial Interest of wednessay, June 19th, says:

The money market presents no feature of interest this morning. The same dull feeling prevails that has been the characteristic now for some time past, and there seems to be little disposition to enter upon business enterprises of any kind just at present. There are no evidences of life or animation in any department of trade. Still there is no want of confidence in the future. It is a pause marely in mercantile activity, and though it is too hate now to expect much until the usual season of summer dullness shall have passed away, yet if the present hopeful prospects of an abundant harvest are realized, as all the accounts from the West and the South lead us to expect, the ensuing fall will be characterized as much by its activity, as the present time is for the want of business energy and animation.

The general rate of interest for temporary accommadation is six per cent, and though some of the large lendars announce that they find no difficulty in using all their means at seven, the rate is exceptionals, and borrowers, with the right kind of collateral, can readily supply themselves at the lower rate. There is not much paper of the best kind offering, and the tendency of the market is not in its favor, the preference being just at present toward using spare capital on call. The banks are not large purchasers, probably from their near approach of the season for making their reports. The rates for prime paper is seven per cent, with some very strong names taken at six to six and a half. Second class may be quoted at eight to nine, with little disposition to invest in it.

PHILADELPHIA, November 15, 1865.

I have been for a year or more past in the habit of taking the water of the "Excelsior" Spring of Saratoga. Accustomed during the great portion of my invalid life to use the different waters of the several fountains which boil up along that remarkable valley, dependent, indeed, upon them for much of the comfort I enjoy, I am satisfied that the Excelsior Water is as well adapted as any other among them, if not more so, to the purposes for which they are generally employed. It is very agreeable, strongly impregnated with the carbonic acid, lively and sparkling. * * I can heartily and conscientiously recommend it to all who need a gentle cathartic and directic.

THALBERG'S OPINION.

nsider Chickering & Sons' Pianos, beyond com n, the best I have seen in America. S. TRALBERG, Chairman of Jury on Musical Instrumen

CARD.

It is with feelings of pride as American manufacturers at we publish the following testimonials, which have sen received by us repently:

Received during the month of August, 1868.

Messas. Ohickeane & Sonz-Gents: I have much pleasure in enclosing a document signed by the first composers, musicians and professors in Europe. I held your Pianos in such high estimation (wide my certificate) that I felt it my duty to take one of them with me to Europe, to ascertain the opinion of my professional brethren. The enclosed certificate will prove how unanimous they have been on the subject. I beg to forward, at the same time, a letter I received from my friend, Mr. Collard, which I am sure must be gratifying to you. ng to you.

I have the honor to be, gentlemen, yours very truly,
JAMES M. WEHLL.

LONDON, January 14, 1868.

My Dran Sm: I have great pleasure in saking youto convey to Mesars. Chickering the expression of my highest approval of their instrument. It is, I consider, not meraly the best instrument of American manufacture that I have tried, but one of the finest Grand Planofortes that has ever come under my cherrystion; and the Mesars. Chickering may well be proud of having turned out from their manufactory an instrument which, for touch, quality, power and workmanship, it would be very difficult to surpass in any part of the wide world.

Dear sir, very sincerely yours,

James M. Wehli, Esq.:

My Dran Sun: As you are going book to the United giates, I must beg you to remember me kindly to the Messry. Ohickering. Tell them I was delighted with their Grand Plano-forte—as good an instrument, I kind as was ever turned out, both in touch endiry.

Wishing you, &c., I remain ever to 119,

H. F. BROADWOOD, LONDON, August 22, 1868.

Mesers. Chickering & Sons:

GENTS: I have just been invited by Mesers. Collard to try a Grand Pizzo-forte manufactured by you, and I have no hestistion in endorsing the opinion of my old friend, Mr. C. D. Collard, vis: That it is the finest ipad, Mr. C. D. Commun.

I consider Chickering & Sons' Pianos, beyond com-parison, the best I have ever seen in America.

I consider Chickering & Sons' Pianos superior to any in the world.

They are unrivalled for their singing qualities and for the harmonious roundness of their tone. There is a perfect homogeneity throughout all the registers. The upper notes are remarkable for a clearness and purity which I do not find in any other instrument, while the base is distinguished for power without harshness, and for a magnificent school; **.

During the past eight years I have constantly played upon the justly celebrated Erard Piance; yours are the only instruments that I have found, either here or in Europe, to equal them in all their points of excellence.

Your Pianos are superior to any I have ever seen in It is country or in Europe.

I have never heard a tone so perfect; it yields every expression that is needed in music, and its quality is capable of change to meet every sentiment. This is a rire power, and is derived from the perfect purity of its tone, together with its sympathetic, elastic and well balanced touch.
